

Bloom & Co - Product Safety and Cosmetovigilance

Internal procedure BLM-QA-011. Applies to all customer service agents.

Reporting an adverse reaction

Every adverse reaction reported by a customer (redness, itching, swelling, burning sensation) must be logged in the cosmetovigilance register within 24 hours, with the product SKU, the batch number, the date of first use and a description of the symptoms.

Serious reactions (swelling of the face, difficulty breathing, hospitalisation) must be escalated immediately to the Safety Officer, Dr. Claire Moreau, who decides whether the national authority must be informed.

Shelf life

Unopened products keep for 24 months. After opening, each product must be used within the period indicated by the open-jar symbol: 6 months for serums and masks, 12 months for creams, balms and lip care. Sunscreen must be used within 12 months of opening and should not be kept in a hot car.

Batch recalls

If a batch is recalled, customers who bought it are contacted by email. Agents must offer a full refund without requiring the product to be sent back.
